
<http://www.whaleoil.co.nz/2012/06/its-a-kind-of-mattjik/>

2 messages

Matt Blomfield <matt@blomfield.co.nz>
To: Bruce Johnson <bruce@cplegal.co.nz>

Mon, Jul 30, 2012 at 4:04 PM

Hi Bruce

We all have our little part to play....

I say

1. On the 6th of June 2012 Cameron Slater wrote and published two stories on the website www.whaleoil.co.nz entitled "It's a Kind of Mattjik". In this story the defendant states that the plaintiff "rorted $172,914.23 out of Cinderella via factoring company Scottish Pacific". It then states that the plaintiff used "fraudulent practices by way of making a fabricated fraud complaint" (Annexed "W"). It states that I fraudulently ripped off a factoring company for $172,914.23 I have not committed any fraud. This is untrue. Mr Salter then refers to emails from my lawyer, which he implies are from a previous business partner's lawyer. This is not true. These letters were sent to me by my lawyer and by lawyer to one of my good friends in order to assist him with a case. Mr Slater then links the story to a boxing video, taken from my stolen archive, showing a fight between myself and my gym instructor. Mr Slater has posted this video on the website www.youtube.com (Annexed "X") without my permission and linked it back to the Whale Oil website. YouTube has been advised of this. They are currently processing a "Copyright Compliant".

They say

14. The defendant admits that on 6 June 2012 he published a story titled "It's a kind of Mattjik" on the website but otherwise denies paragraph 14 and says further that:

14.1. The story is true; and/or

14.2. The story is based on an honest opinion.

Particulars

- (a) Cinderella NZ Limited ("Cinderella") one of the plaintiff's companies assigned a debt of $172,914.23 to factoring company, Scottish Pacific Debtor Finance;
- (b) On 5 October 2007 Cinderella received the sum of $172,914.23 from a client which should have been paid directly to Scottish Pacific Debtor Finance as the factoring company to Cinderella;
- (c) The plaintiff and Cinderella have failed to account for this money to Scottish Pacific Debtor Finance; and
- (d) The plaintiff falsely accused his co-director of Cinderella of stealing the money owed to Scottish Pacific Debtor Finance.

2 attachments

 Di550_0807241420.pdf
135K

 Calderbank Offer.doc
42K

Matt Blomfield <matt.blomfield@belljr.com>
To: Bruce Johnson <bruce@cplegal.co.nz>

Mon, Jul 30, 2012 at 4:15 PM

I'll explain later. Basically I need you to say what happened happened ie I settle Scopac then chased Joe for the money...

From: Bruce Johnson [mailto:bruce@cplegal.co.nz]
Sent: Monday, 30 July 2012 4:11 p.m.
To: 'Matt Blomfield'
Subject: RE: <http://www.whaleoil.co.nz/2012/06/its-a-kind-of-mattjik/>

All good mate but what do you need from me?

From: Matt Blomfield [<mailto:matt@blomfield.co.nz>]
Sent: Monday, 30 July 2012 4:05 p.m.
To: 'Bruce Johnson'
Subject: <http://www.whaleoil.co.nz/2012/06/its-a-kind-of-mattjik/>

[Quoted text hidden]